

Master of Science in Athletic Training

Graduate Athletic Training Education Program Department of Kinesiology and Health Studies

The University of Central Oklahoma is proud to announce a new Master of Science in Athletic Training Degree.

This program is for men and women who have completed an undergraduate degree and are seeking a career in Athletic Training. Our two-year plan of study consists of ten lecture courses and five clinical courses – a 45-semester-hour program. Upon completion, graduates may be eligible for the Board of Certification Examination.* With a double credential – a UCO master's degree and an athletic training certification – graduates will be nationally recognized providers of athletic health care. A master's and certification – what a package to offer a future employer!

UCO employs the best sports medicine professionals. Students will learn from physicians, athletic trainers, therapists and allied health care specialists, while training with professional sports clubs, colleges and universities, high schools and specialized clinics. Remember, the need for certified athletic trainers is growing!

* DISCLAIMER: The Graduate Athletic Training Education Program (GATEP) is seeking full accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE). At this time, the program is not accredited, and there are no guarantees that the program will be accredited by the time of graduation. Support, resources and personnel are in place to submit the Self-Study in the fall 2009 for accreditation consideration in the spring of 2010. Without CAATE accreditation, students graduating from the GATEP will not be eligible for the BOC Certification Examination.
